VOLUME NUMBER XXXVI. CANYON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1933 NUMBER 43

DR. GRIFFIN, PIONEER, DIES HERE MONDAY

Came To Canyon Twenty-Five Years Ago From Galveston

WAS WAR VETERAN

Bishop E. C. Eeaman, Boyhood Friend, Speaks At Services

Dr. Sam Randall Griffin, 50 years old, prominent physician of Canyon, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Terry Mayben, in Canyon early Monday night.

Dr. Griffin, who had resided in Canyon for the past 25 years, was a native of Galveston. He was a veteran of the World War, having served as a surgeon in the Medical Corps overseas.

Dr. Griffin was affiliated with the Khiva Shrine in Amarillo and was a member of all of the Shrine's branches.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church, with Rev. F. T. Charlton, pastor, officiating. Bishop E. C. Seaman of the Amarillo diocese of the Episcopal church, former classmate and boyhood friend, preached the funeral sermon.

Burial was made in Dreamland Cemetery. Pall bearers were Dr. M. L. Saddoris, Dr. F. M. Wilson, Dr. R. A. Neblett, Dr. C. E. Donnell, Dr. M. A. Biggers, and Dr. S. L. Ingham.

Surviving are Mrs. Terry Mayben, daughter, and two sisters, Mrs. John Hanna and Mrs. Agnes Eichlitz, both of Galveston.

Suspended Sentence Given In Burglary Case

In the case of the State of Texas vs. John and Reynold Long which came before the District Court this week, a five-year suspended sentence was given each of the defendants who were charged with burglary of the J. P. Upchurch home.

In the case of T. Thornton vs. Hosea Ballou, judgment was granted by default.

The grand jury returned five bills of indictment and will reconvene today.

Relief Fund Is Received By Randall Co.

A relief fund from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the amount of $780.00 has been received by Randall County and will be used among the needy in the county as payment for work during the winter.

This money is not a dole, but is being used to give work to the unemployed and will go a long way toward alleviating suffering during the cold months of the year.

SPEAK IN AMARILLO

Supt. Irby Carruth and Professor W. R. Clark were speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Amarillo City School staff Saturday. They were introduced by Felix Phillips, an ex-student of the college who is now principal of one of the ward schools of Amarillo.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The following is the order of services for next Sabbath at the Presbyterian Church:

The Sabbath School opens at 9:45 a. m.

The Congregational services begin at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and at 7:45 in the evening.

Rev. John H. Burma, D. D. is expected to preach at both the morning and evening services. Dr. Burma is the President of Trinity University, the State school of our Church.

We extend to you a cordial invitation to all of our services.

Mrs. Geraldine Greene attended the regular meeting of the Esther McCrory Chapter of the D. A. R. in Amarillo last Monday.

Oscar Gamble has been suffering with the flu, but is somewhat better this week.

Miss Flora Dorris of Amarillo visited at the T. V. Reeves home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Celebrate Their 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Lester, pioneers of the plains country, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home 410 Ninth Street, Thursday.

Hosts of friends called during the day to congratulate the couple, and others who could not come sent cards, telegrams or telephone calls.

Among the lovely gifts received were a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums in a gilded basket, a large anniversary cake in gold and white, topped by a miniature bride and groom, and decorated with gold leaves and garlands.

Mrs. Lester served punch and cake from a lovely pearl inlaid mahogany table to those who called during the afternoon. Little Miss Shirley Barks Harrell was present during the afternoon and gave several dance and piano numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Lester, who came to Randall County in the nineties, have been closely connected with almost every progressive movement made in the settlement of the county. Mr. Lester established the first bank in the city and was for many years head of a chain of banks in Western Texas. He has been engaged in the cattle business and was a leader in bringing the railroad in to Canyon from the south. During the early days he had the coveted reputation of knowing more people in the Panhandle than any other man and he has always counted his friends by his acquaintances. He was a member of the local board of trustees when the College was established in 1909 and has worked consistently for the advancement of that institution.

Teaching Is Becoming Profession Says Pres. Hill

"Teaching is becoming a real profession, to which people devote the best years of their lives," said Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers College, recently.

A careful study of the 877 men and women who have received the bachelor's degree from the Canyon college during the past fourteen years discloses that 577 of them are teaching today. 103, or 19.6 per cent, have taught three or more years, while only 160 have taught less than three years or have chosen other professions without teaching at all.

There are 29 or 1.87 per cent of the graduates since 1919 whose whereabouts are unknown; it is likely that some of these are teaching. Only 8 graduates are known to have died.

Teachers College graduates have been able to secure positions even during the present hard times, for of 154 members of the class of 1932, there are 198 who are teaching. This is 70.1 per cent of the class. Many universities throughout the United States have stated that if they were successful in placing 25 per cent of their graduates in employment during 1932 they would be well satisfied.

In discussing these facts Dr. Hill said "These figures definitely disprove, so far as the West Texas State Teachers College is concerned, statements which have been made to the effect that graduates of teachers colleges do not teach school long enough to make an adequate return to the State for the investment in Teachers Colleges."

Piggly Wiggly Store Bought By Mr. and Mrs. Best

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Best of Conway, Texas have traded for the Piggly Wiggly Store of Canyon from A. A. Walker, Mr. Walker getting business property at Conway which is being operated by his sons, A. C. and Otho Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Best moved to Canyon last week, and have already taken charge of the store.

Harold Shanklin, who is employed in the State Highway Department with headquarters at Amarillo, spent the week end in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Hanna of Canadian were in Canyon Tuesday to attend the funeral of their uncle, Dr. S. R. Griffin.

Mrs. John Hanna of Galveston was in Canyon all of last week because of the illness and death of her brother, Dr. S. R. Griffin.

BUFFS TAKE LONG BEARD GAME 49--31

House of David Team Played Here Last Night

SOUTHWESTERN NOW

Buffs Continue the Winning Started With New Season

The Buffalo basketball team continued the winning established at the opening of the 1933 season by defeating the House of David last night by a score of 49 to 31.

The Buffaloes will play again tonight with Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers of Weatherford, Okla. This is expected to be another tight game for the Buffaloes, as Southwestern entertained the Buffaloes in a good game at Weatherford last week.

The visitors led in the early stages of last night's game, and continued holding the Buffs on about an equal basis throughout the greater part of the first period.

Fortenberry was high point man for the Buffs, winning 17 points.

Dr. Brown To Spend Winter In Portland

Letters from Dr. H. A. Brown and family tell of their arrival in Portland, Texas where they will spend the remainder of the winter. Dr. Brown stood the trip well and writes that he is feeling much better.

Professor T. M. Clark, in whose house the Browns are living, returned to Canyon Tuesday from Portland. He had been gone since immediately after Christmas, having visited in Lubbock, Abilene, Brady, and San Antonio and Portland on his trip.

OFFICERS FOR CANYON CITY CLUB ELECTED

At the regular meeting of the stockholders of the Canyon City Club last Monday afternoon the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hud Prichard, president; Levi Cole, vice-president; O. W. Gano, secretary-treasurer. New directors are: A. H. Bryant, Ed Mickle, S. H. Condron, and A. W. Sternenberg.

Reports from the committee chairmen were heard and other business attended to. It was decided that all excess funds after operating expenses have been paid will be put into the building fund.

Miss Sallie Baird is seriously ill at her home near Canyon.

Community Chest Distributes 982 Garments to Needy

The City Federation had its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Federated club rooms at the court house. The president, Mrs. J. M. Daugherty, presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. C. M. Dowlen, chairman of the Community Chest Committee gave a report of its work. She stated that 982 used garments have been given to needy families since October through the Community Chest. This does not include the new garments distributed through the Red Cross. Every application that has been made to the Chest has been amply met.

A committee was appointed to draw resolutions to protest the recommendations of the Economy and Efficiency Committee of the legislature that the West Texas State Teachers College be reduced to a college of junior standing.

Buffaloes Play Air Men of San Antonio, Feb. 11

A feature attraction of the Buffs home schedule in basketball this season is the game with Randolph flying field from San Antonio. On the air men's squad, are such notables as Stecker and Ables of West Point; Stecker is probably better known for his football achievements, however he and Ables were both high ranking men of America in basketball. Arthurs, one of the best men ever turned out of Nebraska; Gibson, a star of old Perdue, and Gowan of Marquette, will probably be the starters when Uncle Sam's flying squadron swoops down on the West Texas Buffaloes on Feb. 11.

The team will fly up from San Antonio, and after putting on some Army flying formations over Canyon, they will proceed to Amarillo where they will land; making the trip from Amarillo to Canyon by bus for the game which will be played at eight o'clock Saturday night, Feb. 11.

"This is the biggest attraction attraction we have ever booked at Canyon," said the Buff mentor. "Our fans want the best and we certainly have booked it this time," continued (Sad) Sam.

S. K. Bynum Of Lubbock Dies Sunday

Men who have ridden the range will be sorry to learn of the death of S. K. Bynum, 71 at Lubbock, last Sunday. Mr. Bynum was a member of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and attended its annual meetings for some years. He frequently met with the T-Anchor Cowboys for their annual summer celebration.

Mr. Bynum came to the Plains "in the eighties" working as top broncho buster on the XIT and VVN ranches.

MUSEUM BLDG. FINE SPECIMEN ARCHITECTURE

Depicts Many Scenes From Early Days Of Settlement

HISTORICAL DESIGN

Architecture of Building Shows Early History

The highly decorative stone carvings displayed on the front of the new museum building of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society represent more than just an attempt at architectural ornament and design. The inlaid plaques and the relief carvings constitute a virtual museum within themselves, depicting very graphically the glamorous history and picturesque natural inheritance of the plains country.

The carvings were executed by the sculptors of the Texas Quarries, Inc., of Austin. Actual photographs taken of native fauna and characteristic scenes were used to guide the stone-carvers in their work.

Forms of Wild Life

Just beneath the ornamental fineal belt on the facade of the new structure are four inland plaques, two on either side of the front entrance, representing the most characteristic forms of wild life in this section. These carvings, constructed so as to give a side as well as a front view, are of a jack-rabbitt, an antelope, a buffalo, and a lobo wolf.

Around the main entrance of the building is grouped a series of carvings which further develop the historical motif. Guarding the entrance on the corners of the portal projection are two giant eagles. Closer to the door are imbedded two huge slabs representing in relief the two first citizens of the great plains, the Indian and the cowboy. Immediately around the door are represented in glazed sand stone more than a hundred of the famous cattle brands of West Texas.

Graphic History Shown

Beneath the windows in the front of the museum, various typical scenes are shown with relief slabs. A covered wagon trek, a buffalo hunting scene, an Indian group, and a prairie dog town are among the interesting scenes represented.

This combination of decorative design and graphic history conspire to make the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum one of the most picturesque pieces of architecture in Texas.

Professor Frank R. Phillips and Allen Farlow were business callers in Amarillo Monday.

Dr. J. A. Hill Talks at Rotary Meeting Tuesday

The Program Committee, headed by F. E. Savage, had charge of the program at the meeting or the Rotary Club Tuesday.

The main feature of the day was a talk by Dr. J. A. Hill on the present crisis in education in Texas in which he gave pertinent facts and statistics regarding the cost of education in comparison with the costs of various luxuries in the state. Dr. Hill also gave statistics refuting the arguments set forth by the joint legislative committee on Efficiency and Economy in their recent report on education in the state.

Miss Juanita Campbell of the public speaking department of the college gave a reading, and Roy Wallrabenstein of the music department entertained with several violin solos, accompanied by Miss Frances Usery at the piano.

City Commission Asks That Milk Cows Be Tested

Owners of milk cows within the city limits, and those who furnish milk to Canyon people are requested by the City Commission to have their cows tested for TB. An inspector for the Randall County Dairymen's Association will be in the county the first week in February. Non-members of the association are requested to make application to County Agent W. H. Upchurch, or to officers of the association to have their cows tested while the inspector is working in the county.

The city has been urged to pass a milk ordinance requiring the testing of milk cows, and prohibiting the sale of milk within the city limits for those who refuse to meet these requirements. However, on account of the cost of maintaining this service, the City Commission has never felt justified in passing such an ordinance. It is proposed now that the city publish a list of all owners of cows within the city limits who have had their cows tested in order that the citizens know that the milk supply is free from disease. Those selling milk are urged to keep their premises cleaner, as several complaints have been received concerning this.

The fee for testing a single cow is $1.00 and 50 cents for each additional.

"Merchant Of Venice" Given Monday Night

Clara Bruce as Portia, Frank Howson as Hshlock and James Hendrickson as Bassanio were acclaimed by a capacity audience in their presentation of Shakespeare's Merchant of Cenice at the College auditorium Monday evening. This play, the first lyceum number of the winter quarter, was presented by the Shakespeare Players of New York.

The scenery, while very simple, was especially fitting and the players showed an understanding of their parts through the whole performance. Webster Patterson played the part of the Duke of Venice and Lorenzo; Joan Beckweth appeared as Nerissa, Ruth Proutley as Jessica, Stanley Cobley as Gratiano, Leonard Penn as Antonio, Old Gobbo and Tubal, and Charles Posner as Lancelot, Gobbo and Salanio.

Ruth Lowes Has Article in January Issue of Magazine

An interesting article appeared in the January, 1933, number of American Childhood Magazine which was written by Miss Ruth Lowes, kindergarten teacher in the Demonstration School.

The article, "We Play Airplane," is a description of a correlated unit of work on the subject of airplanes. The project was worked out in the kindergarten of the Demonstration School during January and February of 1932.

The article is illustrated with pictures of the children at work on the project. The children built an airplane, studied real airplanes, and, finally, gave a program illustrating what they had learned.

Mrs Felix Pierce and daughter, Fannie Alice, returned Sunday from Floydada where they have been visiting Mrs. Pierce's parents for the past week.

Miss Elizabeth Cox was an Amarillo visitor Saturday.

PRES. HILL BACK FROM AUSTIN MEET

Many Solons of Opinion Is Not Time For Big Reductions

TALKS TO STUDES

Local College Has Already Practiced Economics Recommended

Dr. J. A. Hill returned to Canyon Monday night from a meeting of the Presidents of the Texas Colleges held at Austin, to discuss means of reducing their budgets for the next two years, and to consider together other problems which are confronting the colleges.

In a short talk made to students and faculty on Tuesday morning, President Hill stated that he had talked with a number of members of the new Legislature, and that some of them were of the opinion that the present is not a proper time to make sweeping changes in the State Educational system, but that it is imperative that every department of state make all possible retrenchments to bring about necessary economies.

Dr. Hill mentioned that the local college has already done much in this direction, the faculty having been reduced 12 percent, and the appropriation for the year ending August 31, 1933 being 27 percent less than for five years ago.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Texas State Teachers Association will make it necessary for Dr. Hill to go to Fort Worth the last of this week.

54th Anniversary Wedding Observed at Braswell Home

Although December 26th was spent very quietly at home, the day had special significance for Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Braswell of this city. On December 26th, 1878, 54 years ago, they were married in Guinett County, Georgia. Their son, Sam Braswell and wife of Clarendon, and their daughter, Miss Clara Marie Braswell of Houston spent the holidays with them and were here for the anniversary.

Rev. Braswell is now a superannuated Methodist minister, having served as itinerant minister of the North Alabama Conference from 1886 to 1894, and having done pastoral work in the Central Texas Conference from 1894 to 1926. His first charge in Texas was at Mineola, Texas, and his work has been around Fort Worth and Waco, for the most part since, until they moved to Canyon seven years ago.

The children of Rev. and Mrs. Braswell are Mrs. R. L. Blackburn of Mina, Arkansas, Mrs. Stella Gollihar of Fort Worth, Texas, Sam Braswell of Clarendon, and Mrs. S. J. Cole of Amarillo.

W. T. Professors Hold 3 Classes In Amarillo

Dr. R. P. Jarrett went to Amarillo Wednesday afternoon to meet an Extension Class in Education. Professor L. F. Sheffy and Dr. B. F. Pronabarger, Jr. meet clases in History and English in Amarillo each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. All these classes are scheduled at the end of the day, allowing the instructors to finish their work upon the campus before leaving for work out of town.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bishop E. Cecil Seaman will visit Canyon again next Sunday night and will preach at the Episcopal Church at 8:00 p. m. His friends among the students and town people are cordially invited to hear him.

REBEKAH LODGE MEETS

Members of the Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening for their regular session. Mrs. Charles Stratton was issued her Past Noble Grand Certificate. Mrs. Dollie Taylor, and Mrs. Mildred Sullivan served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Winnie Loudder, Mrs. Minnie Hendricks, Mrs. Winnie Gibbs, Mrs. Lucy Brown, Mrs. Myrtle Stratton, Mrs. Margaret Cole, Mrs. S. F. Benge, and Miss Mae Warren.

THE TIME FOR SUMMING UP.

Three years of depression have ended and we can begin to sum up.

Hard times have brought ill winds—but they have also brought some healthful breezes.

Business and individuals have been forced to "write down" fictitious valuations and standards. This has naturally caused a great deal of hardship and a long black list of bankruptcies. But real adjustments had to occur to put a sound foundation under family and business life.

Those who expanded and operated on the principle that that which goes up need never come down, and that boom prosperity would continue unabated forever, had to be deflated.

The individual has found that it is possible to live happily and comfortably on a pre-war basis. He has found that the arbiter of wages is what the dollar will buy. He's come down to earth.

These are the "healthful breezes" of depression. The decks have been cleared for action, and the way to recovery is open.

As for the problems of depression, they are still vital and intense. Writing in the Yale Review, Sir Arthur Salter observed that 1933 will be one of the most crucial years in modern history.

The pressing and increasing weight of taxation stifles the capital (industry) of the world, creating unemployment and preventing industrial expansion and the further investment of money.

The burden of armaments, with their drain on national incomes and their constant threat to world peace, grows greater. In every important country the cost of wars, past, present and future, is the major item in the national budget.

The question of foreign trade looms large on the economic horizon. In normal times, foreign sales amount to ten per cent of the gross in this country—and ten per cent is the margin between profit and loss in the average business. Today foreign is almost non-existent, due largely to a new and intense spirit of economic nationalism which finds its expression in tariff wars and embargoes. Almost every economist of distinction, here and abroad, stresses the need for revitalizing foreign trade as a factor in the work of recovery. Tied up with this is the problem of silver, which affects the purchasing power of half the world's people. When silver is depressed, as at present, the silver standard countries are unable to buy in the gold standard markets.

The picture at home is undoubtedly more encouraging than the world picture. We have the finest industrial organism in existence—we have the factories and the machines and the farms that are adequate to our needs. Our utilities, our railroads, our oil companies, our insurance institutions, are the harbingers of American progress. They represent honest national assets, as against the fictitious assets we counted on in the boom days. Because the machinery of distribution has slowed, it does not mean that the machinery of production is lacking or faulty.

Our greatest single problem is unemployment. Ten million of our working population is at present out of a job, and its buying has come to a stop. Much of this unemployment is temporary—part of it is the result of machine displacement of labor. Today the foremost industrialists are working toward plans to shorten the working day and the working week, and to provide some means of unemployment insurance that will assure the able and willing worker a livelihood in bad times as well as good. It is difficult to believe that their efforts will end in failure. The weight of taxation, which now forces retrenchment, is preventing the employment of many of those now seeking jobs.

This is America at the opening of 1933—a vast and incalculably rich land, which is gradually emerging from depression and entering a new era. It is still a land of promise, as it was in the days of the Argonauts. It has lost nothing that it really possessed. Its earth is still fruitful, its mines are still filled with metals, its factories are ready to make the necessities and luxuries its people want. Its people are courageous, and they still have faith. Its leaders retain those vital qualities—intelligence and vision. America will pull out of the depression—and, from the lessons that depression has taught, it may find a means of preventing both extreme rises and exereme drops in the economic and social cycle, and of creating genuine, permanent and sound prosperity.

Let the people curb extravagance and the first step will be taken toward industrial recovery and employment.

It will remain for historians of the future to truly evaluate the life of Calvin Coolidge. During his administration, which came at a time when the world was upset following the world war, he exerted every effort to stabilize conditions, discourage gambling, spending and inflation which were paramount during that period. His very nature was opposed to such unnatural procedure and extravagance. He will probably not be charged with the spending spree of his time, as economy was of his very nature. That he had foresight to step aside and evade the avalanche started by the period of luxury during his administration, historians will probably reveal. That he was a good man, honest and trustworthy, none will deny. His real worth as a man, as a political leader, and as President of the United States will be more fully disclosed as historians reveal his life and character.

The city commission urges that all owners of cows in Canyon, and those furnishing milk in the city have their cows tested the first week in February. The state sends out inspectors to see that the food supply of the city is kept free from disease. It is nothing more than right that the citizens be protected from the dangers of tuberculosis by having their milk supply protected.

NOT BOTHERED

"Did you give the man the third degree?" asked the police officer.

"Yes, we browbeat him and badgered him with every question we could possibly think of."

"What did he do?"

"He dozed off and merely said now and then, 'Yes, my dear, you are perfectly right.'"

There are still a lot of fine people in the world. We know several men who are friendly and polite even when they are not trying to get something out of you.

A New York editor says the time will come when the women of this country will get men's wages. They do that now if the husbands don't sleep on their trousers at night.

Some women agree that radio is the greatest invention of all times because nothing ever before had been devised that would keep their husbands home at night.

Taft Residents Would Move Mountains To Have Their Hills Stop Moving

Tremendous gas or steam pressure, geologists believe, is responsible for the splitting of Carbon mountain, near Durango, Tex., shown in the picture at top. Arrows indicate the line along which the mountain is splitting, while the cross at the right marks the largest slide. The picture below shows one of the numerous oil well pipe lines buckled by tremendous earth pressure in the "moving hills" near Taft, Calif.

REPORTS that Carbon mountain, near Durango, Tex., is gradually splitting apart and sliding into the valley below, recall that a chain of "migrating hills," believed to be the only ones of their kind in the world, is located on the outskirts of Taft, Calif.

One would think that such exclusive phenomena would be an asset to the surrounding community. Taft's citizens, though, would list them as liabilities. In fact, executives of this oil field city of some 10,000 inhabitants would give them away if they could.

There is no need for residents of Taft to worry about an imminent visit from the hills. If Mahomet were living today and were to settle down in the town, his wish to have the mountains come to him would be fulfilled—but only after a tidy wait of 300,000 years. Taft citizens, however, are worrying about what nature's strange prank may do to their biggest industry, oil drilling.

The wandering hills already have caused $500,000 damage to oil wells in the vicinity. Several wells have been abandoned and huge steel pipes which have been in the ground only 15 years have been twisted into the form of croquet wickets.

Forty square miles of low hills in the oil-bearing Buena Vista region near the city compose Taft's moving hills. In an amazing and unique geological development, which has attracted the attention of many noted scientists, the hills are moving slowly along a 10-mile front.

A huge block of granite far below the earth's surface and many miles in length and width is slipping, geologists say, and the pressure is so terrific that the oil-well dotted range of hills above it is slipping, too. The rate of movement has been calculated at two inches a year, or a foot every six years.

Dirt ridges, sagging telephone lines, and ruptured oil wells all testify to the hills' motion. In addition, oil well pipe lines laid at more or less right angles to the fault trace have been buckled out of their ditches and shortened from nine inches to two and a half feet.

Scientists are planning to record on a seismograph any possible tremors by which to gauge the progress of the phenomena. Nowhere else in the world, geologists say, does man actually see and measure the slow geologic movements such as have operated over millions of years to thrust mountain ranges high in the air and break and re-form continents and sea beds.

THE Carbon mountain slide, which is occurring three miles south of Durango, is believed to be caused by the intense pressure of gas generated by the spontaneous combustion of coal deposits; or of steam created by water seeping into lime formations.

Lewis Shirley, Uncle Sam's Gob, Home On Leave For Xmas Holidays

Lewis Shirley, son of Registrar D. A. Shirley, left Canyon last Thursday morning on his return trip to San Diego, California, where he will resume his duties in the U. S. Naval Hospital, Jan. 9.

On leave for the first time since his Naval enlistment, in October, 1931, young Shirley spent a two weeks holiday in Canyon with his parents and many friends here. He was a W. T. sophomore in 1931. The trip from California was made via automobile.

A "dry land sailor," Lewis has been rewarded for merit and skill with one of the most desirable locations to be had in the hospital service. He is assistant in the Contagion Ward of the Base Hospital at San Diego, located within sight of the broad Pacific. His appointment is notable inasmuch as fleet service is generally considered a pre-requisite to base hospital work.

The work of assistants in the Hospital is provided to give special training for service in hospital units on board Uncle Sam's men 'o war. It is also excellent training as a background for entrance into the medical profession in civilian life such as Shirley contemplates upon completion of his naval enlistment.

He was first assigned to the Naval Training Station at San Diego. After three months he was transferred to the Medical Division being later transferred to the Base Hospital and assigned the position he now holds.

BUFF QUINTET BACK FROM ROAD TRIP

Play Five Games Over Nine Day Trek in Southwest

Last Friday the Thundering Herd returned from their first road trip of the 1933 season, having played five games in nine days, winning three and losing two, one to the fast Southern Stage Lines team and the other defeat being administered by the Phillips University Quint of Enid, Okla., last Thursday.

Leaving Canyon on Dec. 29, the Timber Toppers received their baptism for 1933 when they scalped the the Southwestern Teachers of Weatherford, Oklahoma, by a score of 36-20, repeating the feat the next night at Winfield, Kansas, when they took the measure of the Southwestern College crew by a 32-28 score after five minutes extra play.

On Jan. 2. the first defeat of the season was chalked up against the Herd when they met their last year's conquerors, the Southern Stage Lines team who trimmed the Buffs by the top heavy score of 38-18. The old machine clicked beautifully, however, when the Oklahoma City University Gold Bugs got caught in the draft and took a sweet 41-23 licking on January 4.

The last game proved to be a Jonah for the Burtonites when the Phillips University quintet at Enid nosed out a 36-28 victory.

Fans will be given the opportunity of seeing an unusual number of good games this season since there will be something like fourteen home games for the Buffaloes, the last of the season being spent on two road trips, one to Lubbock, and the the grand finale being staged at the National Tournament at Kansas City on March 6 to 12.

Maybe another reason why times get hard in this country is because too many people are trying to live beyond their neighbor's means.

Every town in the county now has a few fellows who are going around trying to look as though they would make good postmasters.

All Panhandle is Interested in the Vanities Show

The whole Panhandle is going to help Amarillo when the ninth edition of Earl Carroll's Vanities comes to the Municipal Auditorium for two performances on Saturday, January 21.

Although the show date is still considerably more than a week away, orders for tickets are pouring in, many of them from over the Panhandle.

With a company of 100 members traveling by a special train of ten cars, the Vanities is expected to be the most elaborate musical revue ever brought to Amarillo. It will be a guaranteed show, says Wilbur C. Hawk, who booked the Vanities for the benefit of the Tri-State Fair. The same stars that appeared in the show on Broadway last season will perform on the Auditorium stage, and the production will not be curtailed in any particular. There will be 55 separate scenes, with a force of 30 stage hands necessary to keep the scenery moving.

In his principal commedians Mr. Carroll has the material for royal good humor and he makes excellent use of Al Trahan, who has just returned to this country from a tour of the European capitals and his command performance for King George in London. He has also staged Mitchell and Durant in various comedy sketches which give full scope to the hilarious and ridiculous antics of this pair of vigorous acrobatic comedians. The featured dancer is Lucille Page, who is an outstanding sensation. The principal scenic features are "The Prehistoric Curtain" over three hundred feet in length and a magnificent staging of Ravel's Bolero.

The song hits include "Have a Heart," and "It's Great to be in Love," which were popular on Broadway last season, and "My Darling," "Masquerade" and "I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plans," now current and popular in New York.

All kinds of dancing from the super buck and wing to the most exquisite modern ballet alternate with the fast and picturesque ensemble dances.

The entire production was staged by and is under the personal direction of Earl Carroll.

Mail orders for tickets may be addressed to Mr. Hawk, care of the News-Globe. A stamped envelope for return of the tickets should be enclosed with the remittance. Matinee prices are only 83 cents, $1.10, $1.65 and $2.20. Night prices are $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, $2.75 and $3.30. All these prices include tax.

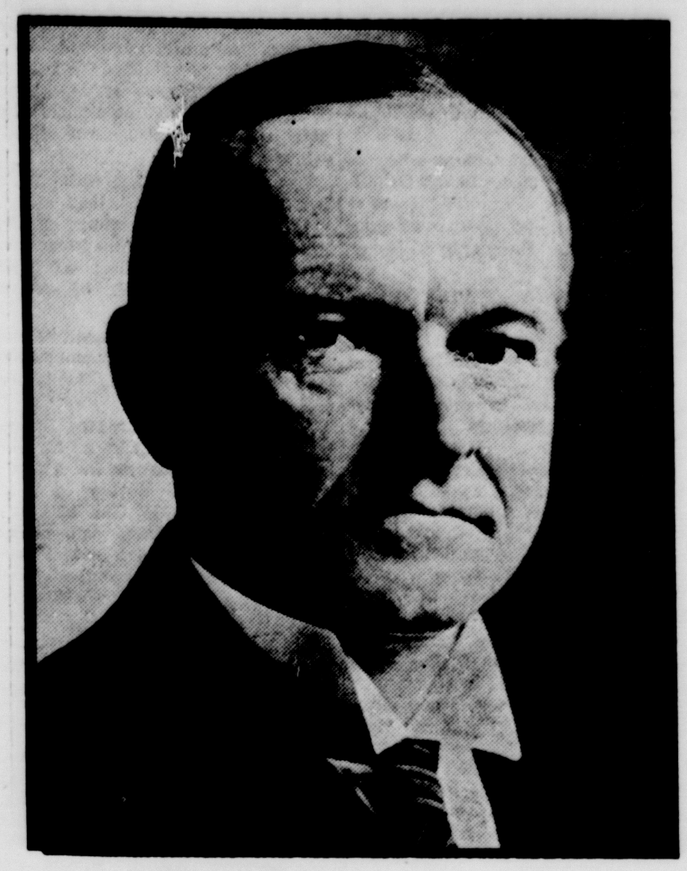
1872 CALVIN COOLIDGE 1933



The sudden death of Calvin Coolidge, above, terminated the brilliant career of a New England farm boy, reared humbly, who attained the presidency of the United States. Born on Independence Day, 1872, at Plymouth, Vt., Mr. Coolidge became a lawyer after his graduation from Amherst College. But politics beckoned, and with his successful bid for city solicitorship of Northampton, Mass., Mr. Coolidge began a series of conquests of elective offices which ended in his nomination as President Harding's running mate in 1920. He assumed the presidency upon Harding's death in 1923, and the following year was chosen by the people to continue in the Nation's highest office.

WINTER PLOTS A WICKED CRIME

THE VICTIMS: Those Motors Using Ordinary Oil that Drains Away from Heated Working Surfaces.

THE TIME: Those Cold Starting Minutes While Precious Motor Parts Must Run Dry at Warming Speed Until Oil Is Pumped from Below.

GET THE "hidden quart" in time *

THE QUART THAT STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY

* The Germ Process (exclusive Conoco patent) imparts to this motor oil that peculiar ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. Of the first filling about one quart will "hide" itself up in your motor's precious working parts. This hidden quart n-e-v-e-r drains away. It becomes a part of the motor itself; worth its weight in gold.

CONOCO

The One Oil that Gives You Perfect Protection for Winter's Worst Days Ahead

Drip! trickle! drip! through long night hours, ordinary oil drains away. When the pump quits, ordinary oil quits, leaving the motor's parts high and dry. You touch the starter. The motor roars. The pump strains at the sluggish oil. It is only a few minutes till circulation is completed. But, in the meantime, working surfaces only partly lubricated are in contact, while the motor makes three to five thousand revolutions. This causes 50% of all motor wear.

Prevent this loss. Choose not merely a quick oil, but an oil that never leaves. Choose the oil with the *hidden quart that penetrates and combines with the metal surfaces of the motor itself. In the emergency of an empty crankcase, users have driven many miles, without damage, on this *hidden quart alone. This proves that your motor need never suffer while waiting upon the pump. Don't remain in doubt. Drain and refill with the *hidden quart oil today.

HOW MUCH is a dollar?

Dave Harum said, "When you get hold of ten dollars get it into you or onto you as soon as you can, for there ain't no pocket in a shroud and you're a long time dead."

If you had nothing but money you would be poor indeed. It is the things for which you can exchange the money you earn that set the standards of your living comforts and conveniences.

You know this. But do you know that it is you who largely determines the value of your dollar?

Many things contribute to the distance a dollar will go, but the greatest agent in "value received" is adverising.

The advertisements in this paper tell you about the best grades of merchandise. They tell you where they can be had for how much.

They tell you of the new things that manufacturers are producing to make your dollars of real worth to you in greater comforts, better living, more enjoyment.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

FRED E. WORTHAM, Secretary

Inquiries received through the mails by the Chamber of Commerce numbered 18 during the month of December. News articles sent out from this office numbered 16; and letters written in connection with the work of the organization totaled 171. Two new families were listed by the Chamber of Commerce as new citizens in Canyon during the month.

Extensive work and plans were outlined during the month to lead the fight of a strong opposition to the recommendations of the Efficiency and Economy Committee of the 42nd Legislature. Co-operation was pledged and secured from other organizations in cities where state institutions, affected by the same recommendations, are located. In addition pledges of support from a number of West Texas cities and organizations were received, including the Panhandle Secretaries Association.

In this connection financial assistance was given the Ex-Students Association, in organizing more solidly the opposition to such recommendations of the committee.

Several committee meetings were held during the month, as well as, two meetings of the board of directors.

The annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the First Christian Church on the night of December 8, with 96 in attendance.

The usual Christmas lighting decorations were erected on the square and the courthouse during the holiday season. The Trade extension committee sponsored a Christmas Celebration, supplanting a Trades Day, on Monday, December 19. Despite weather handicaps, over 1,000 people were in Canyon on that day.

Through the work of the same committee a survey has been conducted through several other Chambers of Commerce in an effort to locate a new direct outlet for eggs produced in this section, with a view of creating a better local market. Aid was sought from three agencies to assist the Chamber of Commerce to locate such responsible parties who would be interested in establishing in Canyon a creamery and a broom factory.

Up-to-date information regarding Canyon and Randall county was supplied the publishers of the Texas Almanac for use in their new edition to be published soon.

Through the Chamber of Commerce Work Relief Committee 209 cases were given assistance for the month of December. A new application was forwarded to Governor Sterling requesting additional funds for the months of January, February and March.

Entry into the Inter-City Beautification Contest of West Texas was forwarded to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Stamford.

An effort was made to secure the appointment of a game warden in this county. Also the State Game Commission was requested to secure the passage of a law to create a closed season on deer in this and adjoining counties for a period of 5 to 10 years. This request was made in order to furnish adequate protection for deer placed in the game preserve in the Palo Duro Canyon.

Co-operation was given the Texas Good Roads Association, thru its director, Hon. Jno. P. Slaton, by nominating a representative committee from this county to work with that organization.

Sunny Hill News

We have been enjoying lovely weather the past few weeks. However, judging by the clouds, a storm or cold weather is on the way.

The members of Sunny Hill H. D. Club entertained their husbands and a few invited guests with a party at the R. B. Gist home Saturday night. Games of progressive "42" and pitch were played. Music by Messrs. Davis, Mashburn, Lollar and Magness was enjoyed by everyone. At a late hour, refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee and cocoa were served to about sixty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Russell visited relatives near Panhandle Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lash visited their daughters, Mrs. Boyd and Dorothy Lash in Pampa during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Russell and family visited in the homes of their sisters, Mrs. J. E. Peters and Mrs. Otto Lehnick Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McFarland and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Miller were shopping in Amarillo last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Early Dutton of Canyon spent last Friday in the Otto Lehnick home.

Dr. J. A. Hill attended the meeting of the Panhandle Commercial Secretaries Association at Amarillo Wednesday.

Wilbur C. Hawk Buys Vanities For One Day

A real Broadway revue, with 100 entertainers in the cast and with 55 separate scenes, will blow the lid off the 1933 theatrical season in Amarillo.

The Vanities were booked by Wilbur C. Hawk for the benefit of the Tri-State Fair. In fact, Mr. Hawk bought the show outright for that day, paying $5,000—the only terms under which the producers would bring the company to Amarillo—and both matinee and night performances will be given. It is the first time an Earl Carroll show has been brought here.

"The Vanities is a guaranteed show," Mr. Hawk explained. "It will be presented here just as it was presented in New York—with the same stars and with nothing left out, and it will be just as represented."

The company will come here by special train from Oklahoma City, Amarillo being one of only two cities in Texas where the Vanities will be staged. The show this week is running at the Shubert Theater in Kansas City.

It is reported from Kansas City and other places where the Vanities have shown recently that there is more sparkling comedy in this edition than in a dozen ordinary revues. Although Al Trahan is the principal comedian, there are others, and all of them are accomplished. The show also boasts some unusually tuneful music.

Some idea of the magnitude of the show can be gained from the fact that 30 stage hands are required to shift the sets for the 55 scenes, and that a train of 10 coaches—four Pullmans, four baggage cars and two chair cars—is required to transport the company on tour.

Although the Vanities are playing in Kansas City at $4.40 top, Mr. Hawk has announced a $3 top here. The prices for the night show will be $1., $1.50, $2, $2.50 and $3, plus tax. Matinee prices will be somewhat lower.

Mail orders addressed to Mr. Hawk are being received now, and reservations will be made at The News-Globe office. Judging from last year's experience when crowded houses greeted "Crazy Quilt" and "The Wonder Bar," the choice seats to the Vanities will be taken up early.

THE PRINTER

The printer is a faithful servant, not only for those connected with the business, but also for the public at large. Without him what would be the state of the world at large? Why, tyrants and humbugs, in all countries would have everything their own way. The printer is the friend of intelligence and thought; he is the friend of liberty, of freedom, of law; indeed, the printer is the friend of every man who is the friend of order—the friend of every man who can read. Of all the inventions, of all the discoveries in science or art, of all the great results in the wonderful progress of mechanical energy and skill, the printer is the only product of civilization necessary to the existence of free man. —Charles Dickens.

Canyon Hi Cagers Fall Before Fast Bovina Squad

The boys and girls squads of the Canyon High School Eagles journeyed over to Bovina Friday evening, to lose a double header to the powerful Bovina cagers.

The girls went down before the Bovina sextet 23-26. The excellent guarding of Arma Lee Greenfield and Athalee Overton, kept the Bovina sextet from winning an easy game. The goal shooting of Velma Crawford was an outstanding feature of the game.

The boys were completely outclassed by the fast Bovina team. The Eagles finished the game holding the small end of the 34-17 score. "Spec" Williams, Eagle guard was high point man for the Eagles, with 7 points. He was followed closely by Thomas, Eagle forward, who registered six points.

Exes Fall Before Eagles In Fast Game Sat. Night

Due to the fact that the Lazbuddy Longhorns did not arrive Saturday night, the Eagles played a team of Ex-Eagles. The Eagles emerged victorious by an 18-13 count. Austin Cone starred for the Eagles, while Jim and Ralph Cabe stood out for the Exes.

Two teams of girls filled the program by playing a game which ended 13-6 in favor of the "A" team. Mable Schmitz stood out for the regulars, while Arnetta Kirkpatrick was the leading scorer for the "B" team.

Too many people think an opportunity is a chance to make money without earning it.

"Little Annie Rooney"

Mrs. Tom Kennedy, above, of San Diego, Calif., was the original "Annie Rooney" and the inspiration for that popular song of other days. Born Mattie Rooney, daughter of Pat Rooney, noted stage artist, she went on the stage with her father when he first introduced his "Annie Rooney" song in the '80s. Mrs. Kennedy has a dancing studio in which she teaches youngsters some of the dances she did during her more than 30 years on the stage.

Ex-Student Notes

Ruth Greenfield, an ex-student is typing for Mr. Carruth during her spare time. She was a graduate in 1930.

Pat Gerald, a graduate of '26, has been a very successful coach at Panhandle during the past two years.

J. D. Hazlewood is attending a law school at the University of Texas. He was a graduate of '26 and later taught in the grade school.

D. Roy Parker, a graduate of Canyon High School in 1929 has made an excellent report card during his freshman year at the University of Texas. The first semester his course and grades were as follows: Chemistry 1, a; chemistry 207, a; English 1, b; history 4, a; Latin a, a; Math 301, a; and P. T. 85. The second semester was even a better record.

From all appearances, Canyon High School isn't such a bad place after all. Every once in a while we find some of Canyon High School's former students coming back to look at the once familiar sights and scenes.

For instance, we saw Lenna Foster, Margery White, and Annis Smith, three former basketball stars of Canyon High School's girls' team at the game Saturday night. While Lenna and Margery were thinking of the good times they used to have, Annis Smith, who is the coach of the present girls' team, had to stay by her team until their time to play.

Didn't Jim Cabe, Ernie Miller, Ralph Cabe, Red Harden, Clarence Wooten and Wayne Tucker remind you of the great athletes they were back in the high school days? They surely did some wonderful playing last Saturday night.

We also saw Herbert Slack, Viva Bell Cox, Joe Slack, Dorothy Cash, Virginia Jarrett, George Schmitz, Lucy Schmitz, Mrs. Davis, a teacher of C. H. S., and Jimmie Burgan, back at Canyon High School Saturday night.

Reverend Hudson Talks to Assembly On Achievements

Rev. L. R. Hudson, pastor of the Christian church of Canyon, spoke to the students on "The Habits of Achievements."

Brother Hudson used examples such as Edison, Eli Whitney, and Lincoln to show the students that it takes difficulties, responsibility, and toil, to make a success.

"Mr. Edison began working by selling papers. He toiled until he had become one of the world's greatest men. It takes toil to make us think and to build character."

"Let us toil until we have built habits of achievements that will give us the satisfaction of having lived a worth while life."

Rev. Hudson's talk will be of great benefit to the students.

Clyde Thomas, of Conway, visited Marvin Calliham over the week end.

Who's Who

Francis Elliston

Francis Elliston, the president of the Junior Class is an outstanding student in Canyon High School. He is a letterman in football for 1932 and a prospective letterman in basketball. He first went to school in Hereford and while he was in the sixth grade he became a student in Canyon Public Schools. The subjects he is taking are history, English, geometry and mechanical drawing.

Margery Tankersley, the secretary of the Student Council, became a student in Canyon High School in 1928. In her Sophomore year she was treasurer of the class, in her junior year, she was vice president of the pep squad. She is now the president of the organization. She is taking trigononometry, English, civics and home economics.

Vera Brown of Amarillo, who went to school here last year, visited with Ruby Foster last week.

Supervisor's Column

The meaning of this column which has recently made its appearance in The Eagles Tale may have been the cause of consideration by some of our readers. We hope that we can create an interest in its weekly appearance for it is through this column that the supervisory officers hope to acquaint patrons and friends of the school with many of its activities.

In the grade school co-operative supervision is stressed with the result that teachers are rendering invaluable assistance in working out lessons and materials for the betterment of instruction.

This week marks the close of the first semester and both teachers and pupils are busy rounding out the work of this period. Semester tests will be given Thursday and Friday and we ask the co-operation of every parent in making our attendance one hundred per cent on those days. Due consideration will be given children who are necessarily absent but a "make-up" test is hard on both teacher and pupil.

Report cards will be issued Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 17 and we trust you will make a close study of your child's card. The supervisor and teacher will welcome the opportunity to discuss same with you at any time.

MRS. C. E. STRAIN.

PRESS CLUB

Kathryn Robinson, R. L. Burnam, Lela Hicox and Madlyn Bull talked on writing articles in High School papers as a program for the Press Club. Some excellent points as to programs of organizations, composing of headline and the use of punctuation were given.

Plans were made to sell candy at the basketball games.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Pantomiming was the subject of the Dramatic Club program, when Mrs. Crump discussed in full the importance of being able to pantomime well. She then assigned six people some scene to pantomime at the next meeting. The Dramatic club hopes to study pantomiming for the coming meetings.

Examinations To End Half Year's Successful Work

The Semester examinations will be given Thursday and Friday of this week. Heretofore the students with no grades lower than a "B" were exempt from semester and final tests. This year there will be no exemptions.

When the students have their examinations finished, they are asked to leave the building or go to the study hall. This rule was made to keep the halls quiet for the students who are taking the tests.

The periods will be one hour and 25 minutes long during the examinations. The following schedule will be followed at this time.

Thursday

9:00- 9:55 classes— 9:00-10:25.
10:00-10:55 classes—10:30-12:00.
11:00-11:55 classes— 1:00- 2:25.
12:50- 1:45 classes— 2:30- 4:25.

Friday

1:50- 2:45 classes— 9:00-10:25.
3:10- 4:10 classes—10:30-11:55.

1933

What does the New Year mean to you?

Is it just another year begun, meaning that we are one year older, must spend one more year working, and must take much more responsibility than ever before?

Or is it "Happy New Year" to us, signifying a new start, more determination to conquer, more desire to press onward, and an ability to make all work play?

We are confronted everywhere with the question, "Have you made your New Year's resolution yet?" Some of us are ready with a long list of things which we intend or do not intend to do during the coming year, others of us look scornful and say that such things are no good at all, being broken as soon as they are made.

Considering the manner in which most good resolutions are treated, I am inclined to join the army of the scornful. If a resolution is worth making, it should be worth keeping.

You may ask, "What can I, a mere student do to make the year worth while?"

To which the answer is: You may work a little harder, aim a little higher, and look a little farther into the future. You may be a little more cheerful, a little kinder, a little more helpful, making this a happier year for someone else as well as yourself.

Let's combine our efforts and strive to make this year worth while!

"REVOLUTION IN HIGHER EDUCATION," IS TOPIC OF RADIO ADDRESS BY DR. HILL

W. T. PREXY TALKS OVER KGRS, AMARILLO, JAN. 5, TO INVISIBLE AUDIENCE.

There are days when the orderly processes of peaceful progress are being asked to give way to revolutionary forces. Radical and iconoclastic programs are being offered a worried and burdened public almost every day. Many people do not have the inclination to calmly think through destructive and reactionary proposals that, if adopted, would wreck the achievements of a generation or more.

We have before us an example in the proposal of "The Joint Legislative Committee on Organization and Economy," which has recently come from the press and an account of which recently appeared in the daily papers. Inasmuch as this report involves a long established state policy that has made unparalleled contribution to the educational life of this commonwealth, and inasmuch as it recommends the abolition of the one state institution of higher learning in Northwest Texas, I feel that as President of that institution I should make some public statement.

The basis of the committee's recommendation is to be found in the following statement: "The state teachers colleges have no specialized function to perform. All are colleges of arts and sciences as well as teacher-training institutions. Other state colleges designated as technical or industrial are also colleges of arts and sciences, with teacher-training as one of their principal functions. There is practically no difference between colleges designated as teacher-training institutions and those designated as technical or industrial institutions. The distinction in names is misleading. The time has come when no colleges should be designated as teachers colleges."

If the above point of view, which is the opening paragraph in the report, is sound, then the whole educational world, at home and abroad, has been moving rapidly in the wrong direction for more than a quarter of a century. The development of teachers colleges, according to most competent critics, is one of the two or three most outstanding features of modern education. Their rise is concurrent with the tremendous growth and expansion of the common school system during the last twenty five years and with the marvelous development of a science of education more or less parallel with other modern sciences. Today there are more than 180 teachers colleges and normal schools, definitely and almost exclusively functioning as teacher training institutions, scattered throughout the length and breadth of the United States. That they are performing a high function in the educational program of this country is attested by the fact that their products are about to constitute a majority of the teachers of the nation; and, by the further fact that they are the target of certain selfish interests who imagine that the teachers colleges are in their way. Also, by the fact that the common people of this country are finding in these institutions their own best opportunities to equip themselves for better living. Teachers colleges do have a function to perform and are performing it too well to suit some people. However, this is not the first time that teacher-training as a specialized function has been attacked in this country. The fact, is it has been opposed in periodic outbursts ever since the establishment of the first normal school in America. Like the public schools of which teachers colleges are really a part, they have had to fight their way to recognition against selfish and predatory interests. Like the public schools, too, they have won all along the line, and the idea which our Legislative committee has presented has been exploded on many a hard fought battle field. One can only explain the attitude of those who attack teachers colleges by assuming that such people are not abreast with educational thought, or have axes to grind.

The West Texas State Teachers College is criticized for practically everything it has or does. Nothing that is is right. We readilly admit that the institution has its imperfections. We admit, for example, that before the depression there was some unwise expansion of departments, but they were made, for the most part, on the rising curve of economic conditions. We make no apology for such mistakes made two or three years ago. We early recognized the existence of too many small classes and began a policy of consolidations and eliminations as fast as conditions would warrant. In this matter of class size, the report shows that the average class at this institution has 18.8 pupils. This happens to be the exact median for the seven teachers colleges of Texas. The East Texas State Teachers College has the highest average of class size—namely, 26.8 students. It is universally admitted by all college authorities in Texas that that school is under manned and its work seriously impaired by too many large classes. As a matter of fact, it is just as easy to waste money on classes so large as to impair instruction as upon very small classes. The distribution of students among the various classes and teachers, as well as departments, is determined by many varying factors that cannot always be controlled. Because of this fact administrators are constantly watching the register, and making such adjustments as are feasible at a given time. The statement that this institution tried to furnish practice teaching facilities for 113 practice teachers in an elementary school of 106 pupils and all such similar statements are entirely misleading. In the fall of 1931 we had enrolled 103 students for observation and practice teaching. 12 were doing practice teaching all the time and nine were doing practice teaching part of the time. Others were observing model teaching. During the winter quarter 115 were enrolled for this work. Approximately the same percentages were doing practice teaching and observation. During the spring term we had a similar situation, with increased percentage in practice teaching. Thus we see that the implications in this criticism are unwarranted by the facts and we vigorously protest such misinterpretation of data. We acknowledge, however, that we do not have sufficient observation and practice teaching facilities and we began several years ago a co-operative relationship with Canyon Public School to relieve this situation.

Our faculty is 12% smaller than two years ago and the appropriated sum for the maintenance of this institution is now 27% less than for the year ended August 31, 1928.

Our per capita cost is little higher than the average of the other institutions of higher learning in this state, but is not the highest. Moreover, it is lower than is commonly recommended by college authorities for a class "A" senior college. Part of the cost at this institution is due to the fact that for 15 years we were the only state institution within 350 miles and had to establish lines of service that some of the other colleges do not need to maintain.

Another criticism of this institution is its location "in the narrow Panhandle of Texas, which limits its patronage on three sides" and, "in a very small city in a sparsely settled community." The report also statess that the "patronage is very largely local, and would show even a higher percentage of local students if the relatively large number of students from other states were eliminated." In other words, the institution would be subject to further criticism for being local in patronage if so many of its students didn't come so far. As it happens, this high percentage of our of state students is exactly 6.6% of the entire student body for the Fall term of 1932. As it also happens, many of the students who are classified as local really come from distant places, but simply register as citizens of Canyon because this is their home for the time being. Let it be understood, however, that a citizen who lives within a 50 mile radius of Canyon is just as worthy of education as is the citizen who lives 500 miles from Canyon. I do not understand that a man's place of residence in this state in any way affects the importance of his proper education.

Another criticism is that our students do not go out to teach. Let the roll be called in any county west of Fort Worth and north of the T. & P. railroad and see how many teachers have received all or part of their professional training at the West Texas State Teachers College. From the remotest rural one-teacher school to the biggest city in that territory will be found our graduates and ex-students teaching and inspiring our youth. A recent check up shows that 80% of our graduates since the depression began are now actively employed in the school room. While we do not have statistics covering the present employment status of our ex-students who did not graduate, a check up of our 877 degree graduates, beginning with our first degree class of three in 1919 and including our last such class of 154 in 1932, shows that 64.84% of such graduates are teaching right now. More than half of the remainder taught three years or more, while 11.8% taught less than three years or entered other pursuits than teaching. 1.66% of our graduates are deceased. Considering the eligibility of a large per cent of our graduates for the vocation of matrimony and housekeeping, the percentage of our graduates who are teaching is satisfactory reply to the committee's findings that we do not attempt to stay with our teacher-training function. Everybody knows that because we have so many ex-students teaching in Northwest Texas they were accused of taking charge of the Texas State Teachers Association when it met in Amarillo in November 1931. Too bad that I didn't have the janitorial expert from New York who made up the report for the Legislative committee on Efficiency and Economy to tell the folks that there were no Canyon Exes teaching in Northwest Texas.

Another indictment that is lodged against the teachers colleges is to the effect that: "The Board of Regents is a very ineffective governing body. The reason for this is that they do not have professional advice other than that furnished by the presidents of the various institutions." The present board is composed of A. B. Mayhew of Uvalde, President, who is a past district governor of Rotary, owner and operator of several lumber yards in Southwest Texas, and a man who is well-known in this state for his splendid Christian character. Henry Paulus, an attorney of Yoakum, is Vice-president of the Board. He is a well-known citizen in South and Central Texas, and is the son of a distinguished sire. Wm. Z. Hayes of Dallas, vice-president of the Republic National Bank, is a member of the Board and has been for many years, as have also Messrs. Mayhew and Paulus. Other members are: John Hill of Amarillo, whom the people of Northwest Texas well know; Hon. Tom Ball of Houston, former member of Congress and well known to the people of this state; W. S. Crane of Franklin, a banker and influential citizen in a large section of Texas; H. L. Kokernot of Alpine, a cattleman of distinction; Dr. Webb Walker, eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist of Fort Worth; and J. E. Josey, owner of the Houston Post. Former members of the Board are Hon. J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, Judge A. B. Martin of Amarillo, Judge A. B. Watkins of Athens, Sam Sparks of Austin, W. H. Fuqua of Amarillo, and many other of Texas' most distinguished citizens. I wonder if any of my radio audience think these are just "yes men."

As to their failure to enjoy any unselfish advice, it is a matter of record that this Board has probably consulted other educational governing bodies more often than has any other Board of Regents in this state. It is the one conspicuous example of a Board trying to work with Boards of other institutions. Not only that, but the chairman of this Board spends a great deal of his own money each year attending educational gatherings of one kind or another. So far as I know he is the only member of any educational board in this state who attends the National Education Association each year and also the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the South or any similar gatherings. Not only this, but he pays every cent of the expense of such trips out of his own pocket. The truth of the matter is that if you accept the committee's logic that the Board is lacking in competent advice because only the presidents advise it, you must accept the other doctrine that the Board should be advised by those who know least about the institutions. It would be a fine thing for a board of bank directors to listen to everybody except the president, cashier, and other officials of the bank. The Board of Teachers College Regents has come more nearly striking a sane balance between lay and professional advice than has any educational Board it has ever been my privilege to observe.

If time permitted, I could go on almost indefinitely picturing the folly of this recommendation. Perhaps at another time I shall do so, for it is full of misstatements, contradictions, and false deductions. We have made mistakes, yes, presumably our full share. We have an imperfect institution—nobody knows these imperfections better than those who are close to the machinery. The surveyor pointed out some of them and the report will probably do us some good. For one thing, we shall consolidate our lines and develop new loyalties. We shall speak in no uncertain terms to those who would destroy the consecrated labors of good, wise, and patriotic men and women who have built here these twenty-three years an intellectual and spiritual powerhouse to dispel the darkness of ignorance and to light the pathway of our children to the throne of enlightened and virtuour citizenship.

Your Employees Can't Do Good Work Without Proper Lighting

Some work can be done without the use of the eyes. Office work cannot, yet few offices are properly lighted.

With adequate modern lighting, office work is done more quickly, more accurately and with less wear and tear on eyes and nerves.

Good office lighting thus becomes a good investment, it saves time, costly mistakes and irritation.

Inadequate lighting is as prevalent in executive offices as in bookkeeping departments, few offices are well lighted according to modern standards.

Is yours among the poorly lighted? Our engineers can help you. They are trained in the application of light to modern industry, and they will make recommendations without cost to you.

LEGISLATURE CONVENED TUESDAY IN SESSION TO ACT ON RECOMMENDATIONS OF ITS JOINT COMMITTEE ON ORGANIZATION AND ECONOMY

RADICAL CHANGES WILL BE MADE IN STATE SYSTEM OF EDUCATION

Hopes That W. T. Will Suffer Only Minor Reductions

Convening Tuesday the 43rd Texas State Legislature will have presented to it the much publicized report of the Joint Legislative Committee on Organization and Economy, probably as the first issue of state-wide interest.

To West Texas the lengthy 350 page document labeled "Education, Teachers College" is of especial portent inasmuch as it carries the recommendations which are definitely applicable to W. T. S. T. C. and Texas Technological College at Lubbock. Several problematical solutions are offered for both schools in effecting the economy claimed necessary for the state educational system.

Radical Changes Due

The recommendation specifically states that radical changes must be made. No section of the state is omitted; however, West Texas is apt to feel the weight of the hammer more severely than others because of the least sufficient facilities to begin with.

It is suggested that Texas adopt the California system, considered by many educators as the best devised plan now operating in the country. Under this the state system would consist of one large university, a centrally operated, intermeshing system of junior colleges, and, if necessary, strategically located four-year colleges. Such a plan may be granted to have certain economic advantages, but it allows no consideration for the fact that the paternal, large university is not centrally located and that West Texas patrons would be as isolated as though residing in distant states.

"Teachers College" Obsolete

In recommending the abolishment of teachers colleges, the report reads: "The time has come when no colleges should be designated as teachers colleges . . . that the training of teachers be performed in the state colleges that are best qualified to do the work at the least cost to the state . . . If the need for teachers colleges is determined by the need for teachers, since there is no present need for teachers, there is no need for the colleges."

A number of specific policies are suggested for the disposal of W. T. S. T. C. including that of junking the institution.

In content, Policy (A) would form a large district, including Amarillo, and donate the present buildings for a junior college combined with Amarillo Junior College to be supported by the district, transporting Amarillo students to Canyon by bus lines at the expense of the district.

Policy (B) "operation of the institution as a junior college wholly supported by the state . . . to be operated by a dean responsible to the president of the University of Texas. . . ."

Policy (C) "continue operation of the institution as a four year college on a reduced scale, eliminating graduate work, short terms, many extra services, reducing staff and curriculum to a point where the institution may be operated economically. . . . The need of the Panhandle region is quite as much for a liberal arts college as for a teacher training institution."

Gift to Amarillo

Another suggestion is the outright proposal to present Amarillo with the buildings and equipment for its Amarillo Junior College, at present insufficiently and poorly housed. Under this plan transportation might be provided to Canyon.

A survey of the entire report would effect the educational system as follows: Texas Tech would be turned into a college of Liberal Arts; teachers colleges at Canyon and Alpine converted into junior colleges; complete elimination of the teachers college at San Marcos; C. I. A. and N. T. S. T. C. at Denton would be combined and, presumably made a college of Liberal Arts; teachers colleges at Commerce and Nacogdoches made junior colleges; and Kingsville A. & I. made a four-year college.

Possible Reductions

This would leave the state with three four-year colleges and four junior colleges. Information concerning the proposed destiny of Texas A. & M. is not at hand.

If policy "C" be adapted, the report recommends the elimination of fifteen teachers in this college and the reduction and consolidation of as many departments as possible. What is termed "the antiquated demonstration school system" would also be eliminated and public schools forced by law to make available their facilities for observation and demonstration purposes. Graduate work would also be discontinued.

Results of the Legislature's action are as yet purely conjectural. It may be that several weeks will elapse before definite plans will be available to the public.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN SEND CUT PROTEST

State Branches Are Unitied in Forming Resolutions.

Three hundred of the Texas members of the American Association of University Women have submitted resolutions condemning the proposals of the Joint Legislative Committee on Organization and Economy, which among other things would virtually destroy the West Texas State Teachers College and remove from Texas Technological College all the functions for which it was created.

Branches of the A. A. U. W. which have sent resolutions to senators and representatives include Canyon, Pampa, Amarillo, Waco, and others.

The resolution calls attention to the fact that the fight for educational advantages for the children and youth of the common people has been fought for over a half century and that public education has always been opposed by "big interests" and the uninformed.

Miss Ethleen Murrell is secretary of the local A. A. U. W. Branch. There are 27 branches in Texas.

COMPETITION

Competition whose motive is merely to compete to drive some other fellow out, never carries very far. The competitor to be feared is one who never bothers you at all, but goes on making his own business better all the time. Businesses that grow by development and improvement do not die. But when a business ceases to be creative, when it believes it has reached perfection and needs to do nothing but produce—no improvement, no development—it is done.—Henry Ford.

Tate Fry Visits In Canyon During A Festive Season

Tate Fry, former faculty member in the W. T. Department of Music and now of Norman, Okla., spent several days in Canyon during the holidays as the guest of his brother, John Fry, ex-sheriff of Randall County, and friends who welcomed his return to the Campus after an absence of several years.

Mr. Fry, a graduate of this college in 1925, resigned his position on the W. T. faculty to enter Oklahoma University in 1929. Since that time he has taken degrees in piano and in voice and is at present doing part-time work on the Masters Degree. He has his own studio located in Norman and is giving instruction in piano and voice.

One of the most talented students ever produced by W. T., Fry was popular in student activities both as a student and as a faculty member. He was a charter member of the Loyal Order of Red Men, now inactive on the Campus.
